DIVORCE CASE NOW SETTLED

The case of Anna E. Tognoni vs. Jose Celestino Tognoni, known as Joe Birch, was tried last evening in the district court. The defendant consented to default and the decree of divorce was entered in favor of the plaintiff.

The parties settled their property rights outside of court and the children are to remain with whom they desire to reside. Each party pays its own costs, according to the stipulation.

This ends what promised to be an interesting case.

RADIO MESSAGES HEARD FAR OFF

(By Associated Press.) HONOLULU, T. H., March 5.—Clear signals from the navy's big radio towers at Pearl Harbor, near here, were distinctly heard by the ship's wireless set on the shipping board, steamer Eastport, while that craft was lying in the port of Stockholm, Sweden, according to advice received by Lieutenant Commander E. C. Raguet, district communication superintendent, from H. M. Lundgren, wireless operator aboard the freighter.

BIG PIPELINES MAKE FOR RAPID OIL MOVEMENTS

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, March 3.—Winding back and forth in an iron net-work concealed beneath the oil fields of the United States, a gigantic labyrinth of pipelines 50,000 miles long, daily is doing work that would require 200,000 oil tank cars and 8000 locomotives fully one month to handle, according to estimates of pipeline transportation experts.

Practically every barrel of oil taken from the nation's 258,000 active wells today is shot through these pipelines and in this way reaches the oil refineries and subsequently the oil markets, weeks and sometimes months sooner than if shipped by railroads.

The rapid movement through the pipes, compared with rail transportation is due to the fact that the flow through the underground system is not stopped at any point until it reaches its destination in the refineries' tanks, whereas the tank car, attached to the freight train, must wait for block signals, must change crews at division points and finally at its destination, must await its turn in the disassembling of the train.

Consequently the oil pipe line system of the country has now come to be regarded as essential to the ever-increasing rate of oil production as the well driller himself.

THE STAR ROVER AT THE BUTLER TODAY

What's in a name? In the case of Jack London, whose famous story "The Star Rover," which will be the attraction at the Butler today, the answer is—everything. For Jack London's name evokes all that is thrilling, strong, adventurous. He is the superadventurer of American literature.

"The Star Rover" tells of a murder mystery cleared by a soul's flight into space. A young physician picks up a revolver let fall in the theatre box behind him by an unseen hand, and is arrested for the murder of a notorious political boss. He is given the "third degree" and strung up by the thumbs, but instead of the expected confession his soul roves among the stars, and he lives his reincarnations. His fiancée first succeeds in stopping the terrible tortures; then pleads for their continuance so that the victim may visualize the murder. The success of the experiment is the climax of the picture.

The other offering on the bill will be "Hobby Vernon and Dorothy Devere" in a special two-reel Christie comedy, "Seven Bald Pates."

Tomorrow, Enid Bennett in "Her Husband's Friend," the love story of a good fellow's wife.

Monday, Dorothy Phillips in "Once in Every Woman," one of the big pictures of the year.

HOTELS HAVE SLUMP IN SALE OF CHAMPAGNE

(By Associated Press.) LONDON, March 3.—Proprietors of fashionable West End hotels and restaurants are bewailing the slump in their receipts which they declare have taken place.

"We have the same number of people dining each night," said the manager of one of the best known restaurants, "but our receipts are 50 per cent below those of a year ago. The difference is chiefly a matter of wines. During the war, and before the war, it was customary for a small party here to have a minimum of champagne. Now they are satisfied with a bottle of Chablis or some other wine which costs much less than champagne."

"Apart from the greater expense," said a famous bon vivant, "it must be admitted that dining out is not as pleasant as it used to be. The restaurants where there used to be refinement and charm, not only in the surroundings, but in the people themselves, have been invaded by a new type of diner."

"The conversation and behavior of these new clients have rather vulgarized some of the best restaurants and the old frequenters prefer to dine at home or at their clubs. Two nights ago I saw a man in what used to be one of the most fashionable and refined of London restaurants dining with his serviette tucked all around his collar. That sort of thing rather spoils the charm of dining out for patrons of the old school."

"As far as the best brands of champagne are concerned, the sale is dead," said the head of a large firm of wine merchants in Pall Mall. "We are selling very little champagne to our private customers, who are instead drinking port, sherry, Marsala and claret. People cannot afford champagne. They could when it could be had at from 8 to 9 shillings a bottle, but what with increased taxes and high prices generally, they naturally fight shy of paying from 16 to 20 shillings for a bottle of champagne, which is now demanded of them."

QUIET WEDDING THIS MORNING

A quiet wedding was the only business consummated in Judge Cuddy's court this morning. At 9 o'clock the judge was sitting half drowsily in his "painful duty" chair waiting for some unfortunate to be brought in that he might be declared guilty or given 90 days on the streets when the room opened and a man and woman passed in, followed by two gentlemen. The man was not long in making known his wants to the judge. He proved to be James Logan, a well-known leaser at Klondyke, and he was accompanied by Miss Rose Woods of Joplin, Missouri. The happy couple were soon united in wedlock, and left for their home at Klondyke. W. E. Edwards and William Maupin of Goldfield were witnesses to the marriage.
